HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM LAST YEAR AND WHAT AFFECTED ITS PERFORMANCE?

For the 12-month period ended December 31, 2025, the Fund's No-Load share class posted a loss of 14.59% trailing the S&P 500 Index and MSCI All Country World Index which rose 17.88% and 22.34%, respectively.

WHAT FACTORS INFLUENCED PERFORMANCE

The Fund's performance was driven by negative returns in specific land companies, which we believe are well-positioned to benefit from infrastructure development related to energy, water and power transmission. However, these companies have legacy energy businesses, which were negatively impacted by materially lower oil prices. The energy exposure is limited to royalties and infrastructure but proved vulnerable to macroeconomic factors. Blockchain and cryptocurrency also detracted modestly from returns, with Bitcoin prices ultimately ending the year lower after making all-time highs in October. These losses were partially offset by exposure to precious metal royalty companies, and to a lesser extent, power utilities and financial exchanges.

POSITIONING

The portfolio remains focused on high-quality, durable businesses with exposure to hard assets, which we believe are well-positioned to perform across various macroeconomic conditions, particularly in a sustained inflationary environment. Guided by our long-term value investment philosophy, the Fund may experience periods of outperformance or underperformance relative to the benchmark, but we believe the Fund is well-positioned to generate above-market returns over the long term.

PERFORMANCE

The Fund's top contributor: Security selection within precious metal royalties, specifically Franco Nevada Corporation (Ticker: FNV).
The Fund's top detractor: Security selection within the Energy Sector, specifically Texas Pacific Land Corporation (Ticker: TPL).
