HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM LAST YEAR AND WHAT AFFECTED ITS PERFORMANCE?

For the 12-month period ended December 31, 2025, the Fund's No-Load class posted a loss of 19.45%, trailing the S&P 500 Index, which posted a gain of 17.88% for the same period.

WHAT FACTORS INFLUENCED PERFORMANCE

The Fund's performance was driven by negative returns in specific land companies, which we believe are well-positioned to benefit from infrastructure development related to energy, water and power transmission. However, these companies have legacy energy businesses, which were negatively impacted by materially lower oil prices. The energy exposure is limited to royalties and infrastructure but proved vulnerable to macroeconomic factors. Blockchain and cryptocurrency also detracted modestly from returns, with Bitcoin prices ultimately ending the year lower after making all-time highs in October. These losses were partially offset by exposure to power utilities.

POSITIONING

The portfolio remains focused on companies that are actively seeking to maximize shareholder value through spin-offs and subject to restructuring activity. These types of activities have been limited by volatile interest rates and economic policies, which should both prove to be temporary. Guided by our long-term value investment philosophy, the Fund may experience periods of outperformance or underperformance relative to the benchmark, but we believe the Fund is well-positioned to generate above-market returns over the long term.

PERFORMANCE

The Fund's top contributor: Security selection within financial services, specifically Associated Capital Group (Ticker: ACGP).

The Fund's top detractor: Security selection within the Energy Sector, specifically Texas Pacific Land Corporation (Ticker: TPL).
